

Poetry Series

Wendy Lewis
- poems -

Publication Date:
2016

Publisher:
Poemhunter.com - The World's Poetry Archive

Wendy Lewis(08-12-1965)

Wendy Lewis, prominent Graphic Designer and Illustrator, died last night from complications of losing her soul mate. She was 44 years old. Soft-spoken and full of faith until the end. Lewis never looked the part of a hopeless romantic but in the final days of her life, she revealed an unknown side of her psyche. This hidden quasi-Jungian persona surfaced during the revelation that she screwed up big time with her long reputed soul mate, a man whom she only spent a few precious years with. Sadly, the protracted revelation ended late Friday night in complete and utter heart failure. Yet even in certain defeat, the courageous Lewis secretly clung to the belief that life is not merely a series of meaningless accidents or coincidences but rather, it is a tapestry of events that culminate in an exquisite, sublime plan. Asked about the loss of her dear friend Dawna Swartz described Wendy as a changed woman in the last days of her life. Things were clearer for her Swartz noted. Ultimately Wendy concluded that if we are to live life in harmony with the universe, we must all possess a powerful faith in what the ancients used to call fatum, what we currently refer to as destiny. In the end her heart gave out in defeat, knowing that she would rather live no life, than half a life without her soulmate. Lewis sadly died of a broken heart late Friday night.

Facade

I want so badly
To just lay down
And die

Wish I knew how Wish I knew why

How did we get here
So cold and alone
No way back now
I should have known.

So lost and confused
How can your love just fade Did I mean that little or is it just a facade.

Life has no reason
Only my tears
Living without you
My only fear.

Tortured by love,
I can not let go
This is my end
I hope you know.

So tired of crying
and feeling like dying.

I can not breathe
I can not see Without you
There is no me.

Wendy Lewis

Forever We Belong.

Watching you slumber.
What a beautiful site.
The one peaceful place,
Where your demons take flight.

I see the fear in your eyes.
You can tell me all.
I will stand beside you always.
I will catch you if you fall.

Together we'll slay those demons.
It's a brand new start.
If were both faithful and honest.
Nothing can tear us apart.

So erase all your fears.
Together we are strong.
We can conquer this world.
Together forever we belong.

Wendy Lewis

No More Fear

So very scared yet
Lost in your touch
Trembling inside
I love you so much.

Want you so badly
Deep down I know
Once I give in I'll never let go.

Feelings buried
Year after year
I awake to find love still here.

Problems that seemed Enormous back then
No longer an issue
to arise again.

Bond still stronger
Than ever before.
No secrets left to hide anymore.

A love so magical
nothing can compare
Could survive this time
If only we dare.

No more fear
The answers not tough
You're the love of my life
You are more than enough.

Wendy Lewis

The One

The night that we met
I knew you were the one.
It was on that night
That my life had begun.

Our first kiss
Still etched in my mind
My soul mate at last
I did truly find.

Your sweet gentle love
Brought me to life
I knew in an instant
I'd be your wife.

You made me so happy
Your love fit like a glove
I knew without a doubt
You're my one true love

The years passed by Life got so tough
We both shut down
That's when it got rough

Mistakes we both made
Tore us apart
Oh how I long
For a fresh new start

What happened to us
Was not meant to be
So lost without you
I can hardly see

The tears keep falling
How did we lose our way?
One more chance
Is all that I pray

The wrongs that we made
Can be undone
If only you could see
You're still the one

Wendy Lewis

Waitlist

My one regret
My biggest mistake
My only true love
My greatest heartbreak.

How did I not know
Until it was too late
How did I not see you and I were fate.

Would give anything now to undo all my wrong to be back in your arms where I forever belong.

To rewind and redo
I'd do things so right never cause pain
never take flight.

I'd show understanding
More love and more lust
Patience and kindness
More faith and more trust.

My biggest fear is maybe
Second chances don't exist
Still I'll love you forever
My heart's on a waitlist.

Wendy Lewis