

Poetry Series

Zaini khalil
- poems -

Publication Date:
2013

Publisher:
Poemhunter.com - The World's Poetry Archive

Zaini khalil(23 September)

I am13 years old.

Mother, Mother And Mother

Children need unconditional love from their mother
The mother that loves, that cares, that helps
The most adorable, disarming, precious and sweet
She has a bad temper sometimes, but still lovable

She always has a winsome smile
Mother the biggest gift of Allah to us
She is the one who gave us birth
One who care's for another

One having warm attachment, enthusiasm and devotion
One who is unselfish, loyal and benevolent
One having strong affection for her children arising out of kinship
The one who brings up
Mother, Mother and Mother.

Zaini khalil

Walking By The River

Walking by the river
I just realized
The way it is flowing
Its all so smooth

It is carrying with it
Boats and many other stuff
It is home to aquatic life
Providing them with all the facilities to live

Just like this I again realize
Everything needs a shelter
But what about the people without shelter

Then I begin to wonder
How do they survive
How do they cope up
With changing seasons and changing climates

But God leaves no one without protection
He is the caring one
He is the guardian
He loves us all

Zaini khalil